

Back To: Blogger Help > Team Blogs

Can I have a blog to which more than one person posts?

Back To [Search Results]

Yes, definitely! These are called "team blogs," and are quite useful in situations where small groups of people wish to contribute to a single blog. Basically, one person initially creates the blog, then "invites" others to join it.

Team members can either be Administrators or not. Administrators can edit all posts (not just their own), add and remove team members (and grant admin access), and modify blog properties. Non-admins can only post to the blog.

Here's how to invite people to join a blog:

First, go to Settings | Members:

and click Add Team Member:

Next, type the email addresses of the people you're inviting to the blog; they'll receive a confirmation email soon. Note that they must have blogger accounts, and if they don't already, they'll be prompted to create one.

Article Search

Suggested Reading

Welcome to Blogger!

Supported Browsers

All about the Post

Editor

Login Difficulties?

Known Issues

Most Popular

1. How do I edit my link list?
2. How do I post pictures?
3. What is the word verification option?
4. I can't log in. What should I do?
5. Can I use keyboard shortcuts while posting?

more...

Ask Support

Can't find what you're looking for in Blogger Help?

First check Blogger Status and our known issues page, then write Blogger Support and we'll see what we can do.

New User

email@domain.com

Enter email addresses of individually.

When you're ready to send the invitations, click Save Settings. You'll receive an email when the new team member has successfully joined the blog.

RELATED ARTICLES:

There were problems with my invitation. What do I do?

What is a blog administrator?

How do I remove a team member?